Rodney Hogg:

Hoggy was an aggressive and menacingly fast bowler for Australia during the 1970's & 80's. He played 38 test matches for Australia debuting in 1978 in the Ashes. During the 78/79 Ashes Series Hoggy took 41 wickets at 12.85. His test career spanned over 6 years with his last test against the West Indies in 1984. In total, he took 123 career test wickets at an average of 28.47 including six 5 wicket hauls and two 10 wickets hauls.

Today, Hoggy is well respected for his commentary on world cricket and isn't afraid to let people know his opinions.

Damien Fleming:

Flemmo was a fast bowler and represented Australia in both ODI & Test match formats. He played 20 tests for Australia and took 75 wickets at an average of 25.89 including three 5 wicket hauls. He was renowned for his ODI bowling though, playing 88 matches and taking 134 wickets at a similar average.

Today, Damien is heavily involved in media both AFL & Cricket and is a commentator during the BBL. He's also released his autobiography, 'Bowlology' which was released in 2013.
